

Keep Cool, - Ladies, - Keep Cool!

Above, May Allison, is seen surrounded by a group of malemutes which were transported with the star and her company to Truckee, Cal., where scenes for "Big Game" her newest picture, were taken. This is an adaptation from the stage play by Willard Robertson and Kilborn Gordon.

Corinne Griffith, Vitagraph star, in her current production, "What's Your Reputation Worth?" took up skiing.

Walter McGrail and Anita Stewart in "Playthings of Destiny."

Russell Simpson takes Mary Alden out for a little ride in his north wood's fliver between scenes for "Snow Blind", a Reginald Barker Production for Goldwyn in which they have important parts.

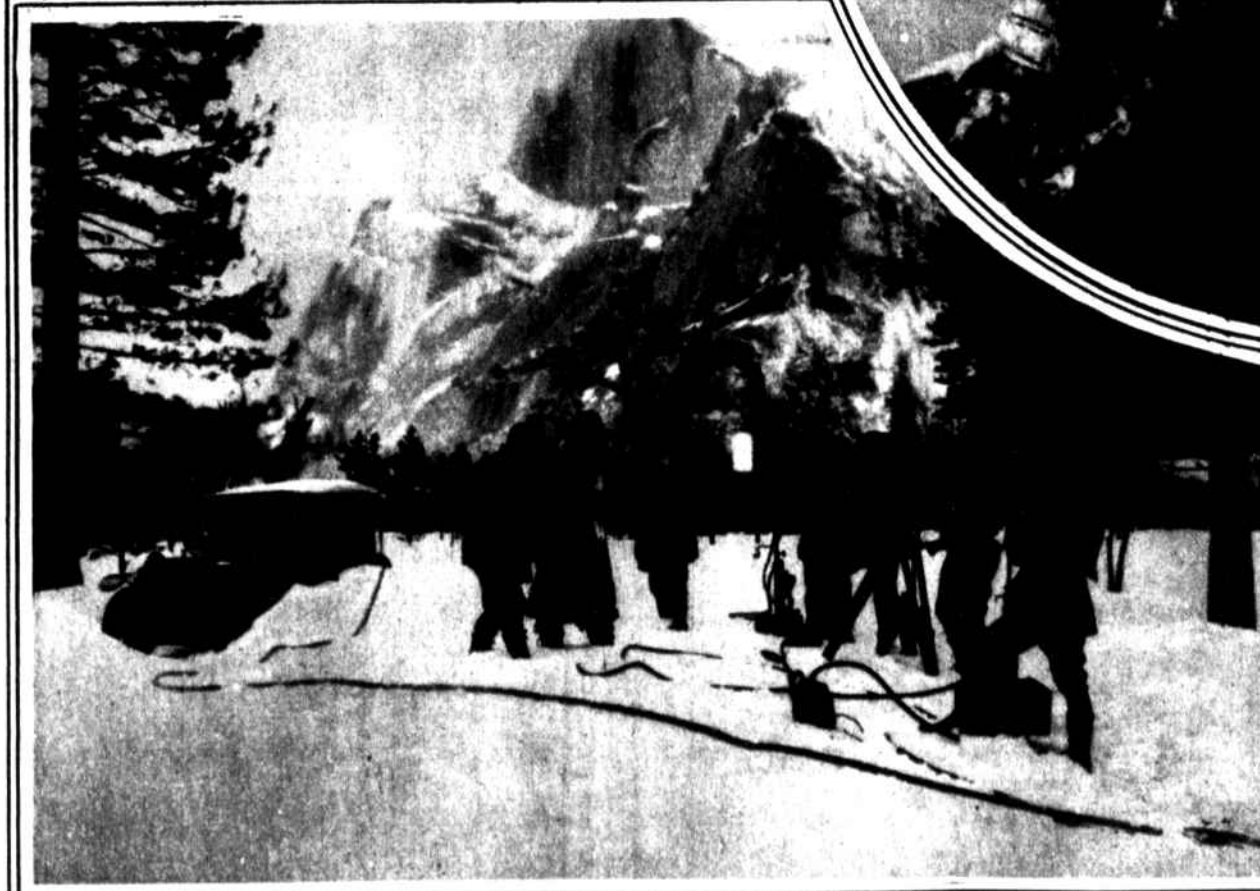

Ruth Renick in "The Golden Snare" a First National Attraction from the story by James Oliver Curwood.

Alice Lake

Anita Stewart "Playthings of Destiny" the initial scenes of which are laid in northern Canada.

Acting in fourteen inches of snow, Eva Novak and her supporting company of Universal players are shown filming scenes for "The Evil Half." The winter sun was not bright enough to pierce the branches of the giant pines, so Norman Dawn, the director, rigged up a generator to an automobile and some Klieg lights, obtaining the desired lighting effects.

Alice Lake in "Uncharted Seas" the story by John Fleming Wilson. Klondike gold on a deserted ship in the icy seas of the frozen north was the prize sought by the little company that dared the dangers of the uncharted seas.